LOGO

The logo uses Boldonse, keeping it connected to the brand's typography. The symbol is inspired by a bicycle and a cloche (serving dome), bringing together movement and food. Its sharper forms create energy and movement, while the curved details add softness, reflecting Miles & Meals' bold but approachable personality.

COLOR PALETTE

#3E63FF — Cobalt Blue
#E4472F — Tomato Red
#F4EBDE — Warm Cream
#241E1B — Near Black

The colour palette is bold, warm and high-energy, reflecting the atmosphere of street food, nightlife and discovering new places. The strong contrasts also give Miles & Meals a contemporary editorial feel rather than the softer, natural look often used by meal-kit brands.

TYPOGRAPHY

Boldonse is used for headlines and key statements, giving the identity its bold and distinctive character. Its strong, condensed forms bring energy to the layouts and support the contemporary, editorial direction of Miles & Meals.

Neue Montreal is used for body copy, navigation and supporting information. Its clean and neutral appearance creates contrast with Boldonse while keeping content clear and easy to navigate.

ICONOGRAPHY

The iconography should be simple, bold and functional, matching the structured side of the identity.
Icons are mainly used to support navigation and practical information such as cooking time, servings, delivery and dietary information.
The style should remain clean and easy to recognise so it doesn't compete with the stronger typography and photography.

PHOTOGRAPHY

Photography uses a direct-flash, documentary-inspired style.
Rather than only showing perfectly styled dishes, the photography captures the experience around the food: people eating together, busy tables, street-food stalls, markets, restaurants, cooking and details from the city.

The goal is for the photography to feel like a memory from somewhere worth discovering
